● Introduction

This directory includes information about all the journals and newspapers currently taken in the Central Library, as of July 2004.

A listing of the newspapers taken in the Branch Libraries can be found on page 106.

The directory is arranged alphabetically by title and there is a subject index which starts on page 13 (Please note: some journals are listed under two or more subject headings).

Each record shows:

- the department which holds the current issue
- the frequency of publication
- the extent of any back files
- a short description of the publication
- website (if applicable)

If the publication and / or its website carry job adverts, this is also indicated.

For details of which particular day's edition of a newspaper carries specific job adverts please see page 109.

Please note: the hyperlinks to the websites will work most effectively if this file is first saved to and then accessed from your computer's hard drive or a floppy disk.

You can also see if annotated records to selected articles in a particular journal are included in the Leeds Business Indexes, which are accessible on the Internet [please see page 3].

Two electronic indexes to art journals - the Art Index and the Design & Applied Arts Index (daai) - are also available in the Art Library [please see page 7].

Full text articles from a particular journal may be available using the online current awareness system NewsRoom, which is accessible in the Business and Research Library [please see page 10].

All departments also hold extensive collections of journals to which we no longer subscribe or which have ceased publication. These are not listed here but holdings are included in the departmental catalogues or the OPAC (Online Public Access Catalogue).

● Indexes to business and company information

The Leeds Business Indexes

<http://www.leedsbusinessindex.net>

Search annotated records to articles in some of the journals and newspapers described in this directory, and much besides, using the Leeds Business Indexes.

Track down information on a company with which you are having an interview, and the sector in which they operate . . .

The database includes searchable descriptions of articles and surveys in journals, newspapers, trade journals, and market research reports, as well as descriptions of our trade and professional directories, statistical sources and other reference materials.

Particular attention is paid to material on local companies, the major sectors of the local economy, and other important developments in Leeds and Yorkshire.

It will be immensely useful to anyone wishing to research particular companies, the local and national economies, prospective markets, and all manner of business and employment issues.

It will also be of relevance to job-seekers preparing for interviews, and of great help with common enquiries from those doing projects on many topics, such as shopping centres, retailing, food, call centres, e-commerce, and so on.

We continue to create new records to articles in business and trade journals, and in the Yorkshire Post.

Several years of records to articles from the following journals have been added: The Banker, Building, Company Accountant, the Economist, Estates Gazette, the Grocer, Health and Safety at Work, Incomes Data Services Studies, Labour Market Trends, National Institute Economic Review, Management Today, People Management, Property Week, Revolution, Retail Week, UK Trade Trends.

Records going back to the early 90s have been added for Business in Yorkshire, the Regional Review, and the various Chamber of Commerce journals. We have also added the Local Businesses Index, an index, which hitherto had existed on hand written catalogue cards, to references to local companies in publications sometimes dating back more than a century. Extensive records to the Yorkshire Post are included in this part of the database.

For further information please contact Keith Holdich on 0113 247 8269 or by e-mail: keith.holdich@leeds.gov.uk

NewsRoom

Articles on particular companies and industries can easily be retrieved at the Business and Research Library by using NewsRoom, an online current awareness system from the Dialog Corporation.

The system can be used to search over 8,000 national, and regional newspapers, trade publications, journals, magazines, and newswires from Britain, America and around the world. Full text is available for many titles.

There are articles from the publications of some 190 countries, some in their original languages, many being translated into English from 17 different languages.

NewsRoom includes many respected journal titles to provide in depth coverage of many subjects, such as trade, industry, finance, health, medicine, science, food, sport, information technology, the media, the arts, and many more. Titles include: Advertising Age, Packaging News, Energy Digest, The Geographical Review, and Art in America.

NewsRoom presents more than a dozen national UK newspapers in full text on the day of publication, including the Telegraph, the Times and the Independent, as well as their Sunday editions. Local newspapers include the Yorkshire Post, the Yorkshire Evening Post, the Bristol Evening Post, and the Leicester Mercury.

Nearly 200 full text US newspapers are included, many of which are also available on the day of publication, such as The New York Times and the San Francisco Chronicle. Abstracts of approximately forty top stories in the Wall Street Journal are also loaded daily.

The size of the archive at present varies from publication to publication, with a minimum backfile of two years in most cases and many titles stretching back to 1973.

Please consult the staff in the Business and Research Library should you wish to use this service. Contact details can be found below.

You can find out more about NewsRoom and the newspapers and journals which it includes at

● Indexes to local studies materials

Leeds Local Indexes

<http://www.leedslocalindex.net>

Leeds Local Index consists of indexes to newspaper and journal cuttings, indexes to census material for the area and resources such as the indexes to the Quaker and Non-Conformist Registers. This database contains over 250,000 records and provides a huge resource for remote access to our collections.

Many indexes, such as the Leeds Newscuttings, Yorkshire Newscuttings and Biographical Index had previously only been available on hand written catalogue cards in the Local Studies Library but are now searchable online. The census indexes include the Leeds Census Street Index for 1841 -1901, the Place Names Index for 1841 - 1901 and the Index of Census Name Indexes. Using this resource will guide the user to the census reels they require and enable the user to do part of their research remotely before visiting the library.

For further information about the Local Indexes please contact Rose Gibson on 0113 224 3887 or by e-mail: gibson01@leedslearning.net.

● Further local studies resources

Leodis

<http://www.leodis.net>

Leodis is an online photographic archive containing over 40,000 images of Leeds old and new. Diverse collections from Leeds Local Studies Library and branch library collections have been brought together for the first time to create a unique look at all aspects of life in Leeds both past and present. Greater depth has been added to the archive by digitising some of the collections from our partners; West Yorkshire Archives, Leeds Civic Trust, Leeds Museums and galleries and the Thoresby Society. The site is searchable by keywords, location and date.

Discovering Leeds

<http://www.leodis.net/discovery>

Discovering Leeds provides learning resource material on a variety of topics of historical interest for Leeds. These topics have been researched in great detail and make available text, images and maps for project work or just general interest. At present there are nine topics available ranging from information on the waterfront or Briggate, to the theatres and the markets. All the topics are fully searchable and a bibliography is provided for further research.

Leeds Playbills

<http://www.leodis.net/playbills>

The Leeds Playbills site contains over 5,000 playbills from the collections in Leeds Local Studies Library. These playbills are from a wide range of Leeds Theatres such as the City Varieties, the Grand, and the Playhouse. The site also includes playbills from many Leeds theatres, which now no longer exist such as The Theatre on Hunslet Lane, the Empire, the Princess and the Theatre Royal. The site provides a unique insight into theatre life in Leeds between 1781 and the 1990's and also contains circus bills such as those from Pablo Fanque's Circus and the many circuses that performed off Boar Lane.

The site can be searched by theatre from a drop down list or by selecting a range of dates to limit the search. In addition the user can also search by the name of an act or actor's name or by a keyword. This enables the user to search for particular people, possibly for a family connection, a particular act or the name of a play can be entered as a keyword.

● Indexes to art journals

A wide range of current art journals with extensive backfiles, some titles running back to the mid-nineteenth century, are available in the Art Library.

Many of these journals are indexed on two CD-ROM databases which are available for public use in the library: the Art Index and the Design and Applied Arts Index are an indispensable means of finding articles in our journals.

Art Index

Published by the respected H.W. Wilson Company, Art Index provides comprehensive indexing for leading international art publications, including journals, yearbooks, and museum bulletins. The references date back to 1984.

Subjects covered:

All areas of art, including: painting, sculpture, photography, advertising, archaeology, decorative arts, crafts, pottery, folk art, graphic arts, fashion, textiles, interior design, industrial design, television, video, film, museology, architecture, and art history.

There is coverage of contemporary art around the world, Canadian, Latin American, and Asian arts, new artists, exhibition reviews, non-western art, and feminist art criticism.

The journals which the Art Library holds and which are indexed on Art Index are indicated in the directory.

For a full list of journals indexed in the Art Index, please consult the publisher's website at <http://vnweb.hwwilsonweb.com/hww/Journals>

Design and Applied Arts Index (daai)

The Art Library also subscribes to daai on CD-ROM, an international index to design and craft journals, containing over 100,000 annotated references from more than 450 journals published since 1973, with the majority of the references dating from 1987.

Subjects covered:

All areas of design and craft are covered, including: industrial design, architecture, interior design, environmental design, computer aided design, furniture design, ceramics, glass, jewellery, metalsmithing, silversmithing, goldsmithing, fashion design, textile design, embroidery, graphic design, typography, multimedia design, illustration, book design, photography, advertising, retail design, packaging, exhibition design, theatre design, design and craft history, design and craft theory.

The journals which the Art Library holds and which are indexed on daai are indicated in the directory.

For a full list of the journals indexed on daai please visit its website at <http://www.daai.co.uk>

Leeds Art Libraries in Co-operation

The Art Library is a member of LALIC (Leeds Art Libraries in Co-operation) along with the College of Art and Design, the Henry Moore Institute, and the art libraries of both the University of Leeds (Brotherton Library) and Leeds Metropolitan University.

LALIC has produced a 'union list' of our collective holdings of journals, so that if the Art Library here in the Central Library does not have a particular title or issue, we can check if it is available at any of the other sites.

The LALIC Union List of Journals can be downloaded from the Libraries section of the City of Leeds (UK) website (<http://www.leeds.gov.uk>), and printed copies are available in the Art Library.

● WebLinks - Internet resources

These and other internet resources can be found by using WebLinks, a selection of vetted links to websites, put together by library staff, to help you find useful information on the world wide web.

<http://www.leeds.gov.uk/weblinks>

FindArticles.com is a vast archive of published articles that you can search for free. It contains articles dating back to 1998 from more than 300 magazines and journals.

<http://www.findarticles.com>

Magportal allows you to search for full text articles from (mainly American) journals.

<http://magportal.com>

Free Medical Journals provides access to over 800 online medical publications. Search by title or by medical speciality. Includes journals which are free full text, free one to six months after publication, free one year after publication, free two years after publication, new, and cancelled (no longer free).

<http://www.freemedicaljournals.com/htm/index.htm>

HighWire Press is a database maintained by Stanford University Libraries of hundreds of thousands of free full-text science and medicine articles.

<http://intl.highwire.org/lists/freeart.dtl>

e4engineering.com includes recent articles from the following journals: Media Information, The Engineer, Design Engineering, Process Engineering, Metalworking Production, Control and Instrumentation, and What's New in Industry.

<http://www.e4engineering.com>

● Community resources

Voluntary and Community Organisations in Leeds is a comprehensive easy to search online database of approximately 1800 local organisations.

<http://www.leeds.gov.uk/volsec>

Leeds Communities Online is a gateway to community information in your area.
