

Consultants specialising in arboriculture & forestry

To obtain impartial advice on the condition of trees and appropriate works, an arboricultural consultant can be engaged, rather than a tree contractor / surgeon (who can have a vested interest in generating un-necessary work for themselves.)

An arboricultural consultant should have the experience and qualifications to :

- prepare a detailed illustrated report on the condition of a tree or trees
- provide recommendations for appropriate tree work
- provide detailed surveys of trees on development sites, tree impact analysis and method statements on their protection during the construction period
- prepare management plans for the care of trees and woodlands
- provide advice about trees and their effects upon walls, drives, garages, etc and options for remedial works
- advise on appeals against refusal decisions involving trees

Please note that anyone wishing to employ a consultant should satisfy themselves that they have the necessary qualifications, experience and insurance to fulfil their specific requirements. The following list of consultants, known to operate within the Leeds district is offered to assist developers and the public to obtain expert tree advice, in the interests of conserving the trees of Leeds. The City Council and its officers cannot accept responsibility for any consequential disagreements in producing this list:
