

Once upon a time...

There were 5000 little people  All wearing disposable nappies

They lived in Calderdale, a beautiful place with lots of  and no yukky landfill sites. But what many mummies and daddies had not been told was that: Baby needs around 4500 nappies from birth to potty which creates over a ton of waste - about the weight of a  which could take squillions of years to disappear from landfill. Producing methane gas, which pongs and contributes to Global  Warming. And no-one knew which chemicals were inside as that wasn't even listed on the packets! Or that it took 1 cup of oil to make just 1 disposable nappy! Or that a 'breathable' or 'bio-degradable' disposable - wasn't really* 5000 little people were getting through 13 million 'disposables' every year! Where were they going to put them all? What a waste!

Luckily, one day, along came a fantastic nappy laundry service offering a convenient, value for money, alternative for all.

Mummies and daddies called 01422 847080 and were supplied with effective, innovative, natural cotton  bum coverage from birth to potty.

And within just 1 year, 100 little people re-used 1/4 million nappies. And so mummies and daddies were happy knowing they were protecting the earth and preserving her resources for baby's future. And baby was happy with a soft, comfy, chemical and plastic free nappy next to their delicate skin.

And they all lived nappily ever after...

* Comment overleaf -Is our opinion based on;

"A typical diaper using a breathable backsheet loses less than 3% of its weight (through evaporation in a 24 hour period), and no one uses a diaper for 24 hours if you know what I mean!" Carlos Richer (a disposable nappy (diaper) manufacturer, www.richernet.com

Landfill sites are sealed. Breakdown of waste is anaerobic (in the absence of oxygen) and a verrrry slow process!

"Thank you for providing a great service...p.s. We will be back in touch in November"
(Mr & Mrs V, Brighouse)

"This nappy system has been fantastic, my son's healthy, nappy-rash free bottom is a testament to that. An extremely reliable, friendly, efficient and accommodating nappy service.... hopefully many more parents will 'change' and be as pleased as I have been whilst also helping that bit with the environment" (Ms P, Halifax)
